STATE PLANS FOUR LANES ON ROUTE 14

Kickoff New Test Series

Russians Detonate 40-Megaton Bomb

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP) — The Soviet Union has launched a new nuclear test series with a super-bomb blast which Swedish scientists placed in the 40-megaton range, second only to the 50-megaton blast the Russians set off last October.

The new blast Sunday, apparently touched off at Soviet atomic test grounds in Arctic Siberia, came as no surprise to the West. Premier Khrushchev had announced his forces would have to resume testing because of the U.S. Pacific tests now being concluded.

The U.S. State Department called the Soviet explosion a "somber episode" but made clear it will not halt U.S. efforts to get a nuclear test ban.

"The urgent problem before the world is not who tests last, but how we can rid the world of nuclear testing once and for all," said the department statement, referring to Soviet statements that they insisted on holding the last round of tests.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean returned to the Geneva disarmament conference Saturday with new Western compromise proposals for a test ban treaty.

No date has been announced for presentation of the proposals to the conference.

Estimates varied as to the size of the Soviet explosion Sunday believed touched off on the island of Novaya Zemlya about 1,350 miles east of Uppsala.

Uppsala University's Seismological Institute classed it in the range of 40 million tons of TNT and said it occurred at a higher altitude than the Soviet series of 1961.

The Soviet foreign ministry refused to comment on the explosion, which appeared to have launched a new round of Russian military maneuvers in the far north. The Soviet government announced two weeks ago that maneuvers would begin Aug. 5, with the Soviet northern fleet, rocket troops and air force units taking part.

In Japan, only nation to have been hit by an atomic bomb, a government spokesman said the Soviet act "is regrettable for world peace." It also drew criticism from Dr. Kaoru Yasui, head of the Communist-dominated Japan Council against Atomic and Hydrogen Bombs.

British Hopes Dim In Common Market

LONDON (AP) — British newspapers tried today to salvage some hope out of the deadlock over Britain's entry into the European Common Market.

The papers said Sunday's breakdown in the seven-nation talks in Brussels would delay but not necessarily doom Britain's chances of joining the prosperous European Economic Community.

The talks were recessed until October after France reportedly held out against Britain's demands for tariff-free admission of farm exports from Canada, Australia and New Zealand should Britain become a partner in the trade alliance.

The Guardian acknowledged that the delay lessened hope of eventual agreement on Britain's entry into the economic community with France, Italy, West Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The Laborite Daily Herald said the delay was embarrassing for Prime Minister Macmillan's government, but "a political muddle is still a long way from a breakdown."

The Times said postponement was disappointing but "better than some verbal compromise which the two sides would interpret differently."

Edward Heath, Lord Privy Seal, who represented Britain at the Brussels talks, reported to Macmillan after telling newsmen, "We have covered as much ground as possible."

Heath insisted there had been broad agreement "over many fields in commonwealth affairs." But another conference delegate, Dutch Economic Minister Jan de Pous, said the deadlock would make Britain's entry into the market impossible before 1964.

This was a hard political blow

Retiring Lisbon Chief Feted

Two hundred persons attended the reception and program at the Lisbon VFW Home Saturday evening honoring retiring Police Chief Dalton E. Pike, who will complete a 33-year career on Wednesday.

Pike, chief for most of his 33 years on the Lisbon force, plans a retirement life of "just taking it easy and doing lots of fishing."

The program Saturday evening included a social hour and dinner, attended by local residents and district law enforcement and business firms presented gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Pike. Atty. Howard Cole served as master of ceremonies. Acts of magic by Bob Cole and Paul Sweeney were followed by a dance to the music of Tom Collella's combo.

Stricter Drug Control Urged

JFK Asks Action By Senate Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has asked the Senate Judiciary Committee to restore some of the teeth it yanked from the Kefauver drug bill.

His renewed request for stricter controls comes on the heels of an outcry over the sedative thalidomide, blamed for the malformation of thousands of infants in Europe. The drug was not sold in the United States but was distributed to 1,231 American doctors for possible experimental use.

The major item in the provisions backed by Kennedy in a letter to committee chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., is greater government power to remove unsafe or ineffectual drugs from the market.

Along with the letter to Eastland went 25 pages of amendments that have the president's backing.

The Kefauver bill had paralleled in many respects proposals made by Kennedy in his consumer message to Congress early this year. Last spring, the President strongly endorsed the Kefauver bill in a letter to Eastland.

The committee modified the measure into what Kefauver says is now "a mere shadow of itself." Last week at his news conference, Kennedy said the Senate bill, which is still in the hands of the committee, "does not go far enough."

Reports that thalidomide is believed responsible for thousands of malformed births in Europe and the story of how a government medical officer blocked its sale here helped put the spotlight back on the United States' drug laws.

The renewed discussion of drug procedures took this form over the weekend:

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said he supported Kefauver's proposal to require adequate testing of drugs on laboratory animals before they are

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP)—The Lanker family — Ralph, his wife, Virginia; their daughter, Bea, and sons Ray and Thomas — will be buried here at 2 p.m. Tuesday. They were the victims of a quadruple slaying — suicide Saturday.

And chances for knowing the reason behind the mass slaying, apparently at the hand of 14-year-old Ray, are slight.

Ray died Saturday of a self-inflicted bullet wound. The bodies

Marilyn Monroe Is Sleeping Pill Victim

Star's Death Cloaked In Mystery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A doctor smashed his way into a locked bedroom—and found Marilyn Monroe dead in bed, nude, a telephone clutched in her hand, an empty pill bottle nearby.

It was her psychiatrist who found the body early Sunday. The mysterious death brought a tragic end, at 36, to the troubled life of Norma Jean Baker—the frightened waif who became the world's most famous blonde as Marilyn Monroe.

She apparently died either late Saturday or early Sunday of an overdose of sleeping pills. The empty bottle had contained 50 Nembutal capsules.

Was it suicide? Had she called someone before she died?

A corner's investigation team, aided by detectives, is seeking the answers to these questions today. Evidence uncovered so far is conflicting.

Dr. Ralph Greenson, her psychiatrist, said she called him at 5:15 p.m. Saturday, distraught, seeking reassurance. They talked an hour. He told her to take a drive in her car to relax.

It was a ride she never took.

MARILYN MONROE

Instead, she retired at 8 p.m., in what her housekeeper, Mrs. Eunice Murray, thought to be good spirits.

If she made any calls that evening, they were local calls. Telephone company records disclosed no toll calls from her number.

Mrs. Murray rose at 3 a. m. Sunday in her quarters in the star's Brentwood home — awakened by an uneasy dread she couldn't explain—and found Miss Monroe's light still burning, her door locked, and no answer to her knock. She phoned Dr. Greenson.

He rushed to the home, smashed a bedroom window with a fire-place poker, forced his way in, and told Mrs. Murray: "She appears to be dead."

No notes were found. She was found lying face down, the covers hunched around her shoulders.

The body was taken to a nearby mortuary and then to the county morgue where it remains today, unclaimed.

Hours before she had been one of the world's most famous personalities. But on her coroner's call sheet, tagged to crypt 33 in the morgue, were these unrevealing statistics: Weight 117 pounds, height 65½ inches, hair blonde and eyes blue.

Next of kin — Gladys Baker, mother. Address unknown.

Woman Seeks Abortion OK In Sweden

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Mrs. Sherri Finkbine sees a Swedish doctor today, seeking speedy abortion of the baby she fears has been deformed by the drug thalidomide.

Dr. Karl-Inge Oester of the Royal Medical Board said a "penetrating investigation of the reasons" must precede any official approval of the operation.

Doctors at Stockholm's Caroline Hospital are expected to handle the case. After examinations and a study of statements by Mrs. Finkbine's American physicians, they could recommend for or against the abortion. The medical board will make the final decision.

Tense and nervous, Mrs. Finkbine appeared near collapse after her arrival Sunday.

Mrs. Finkbine decided to seek the operation in Sweden, which has approved abortions for seven other women who have taken thalidomide, after an Arizona court refused to approve termination of her pregnancy. Arizona law prohibits abortions unless the mother's life is in danger.

Thalidomide has been blamed for the deformation of thousands of babies born with deformed arms, legs and internal organs.

Mrs. Finkbine's husband bought the tranquilizer in London during a European trip last year and brought it home.

The End She Was His Gal But He Done Her Wrong

CINCINNATI (AP)—Penny and Big Boy were lovers. But he done her wrong and now it's all over.

Four years of bliss have been shattered in the split-level cage at the Cincinnati Zoo where 100-pound Penny snuggled in the arms of 300-pound Big Boy behind the picture window bars of the gorilla cage.

Maybe it was the plus-90 degree heat that did it, but Big Boy suddenly turned on his spouse Sunday and with flashing teeth cut her back and gashed a foot. It took 35 stitches to mend her after attendants had pulled the quarreling lovers apart.

They're living apart now and likely to remain so.

Early Truce Unlikely In Albany Crisis

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Both sides in this city's racial impasse groped today for a face-saving solution but there was little indication of an early settlement.

Prayer vigils were planned in 13 cities throughout the nation and a group of ministers were set to march on the White House to protest Albany's jailing of hundreds of Negroes, including Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Police stayed on standby alert for the fifth consecutive week, although this southwest Georgia city returned to its unhurried pace of life. Sporadic, small-scale demonstrations by Negroes have become routine and attract only handfuls of spectators.

Less than 100 persons, including 84 adults, remained behind bars in Albany and nearby towns. Since renewal of protest demonstrations July 11, there have been 401 arrests made, pushing total arrests since December to about 1,200.

This is the dilemma: King says that some concrete progress must be made before he leaves, else he must admit defeat. City officials say they will do nothing until he leaves because they cannot politically afford to give King a victory.

Trial of the integration leader is set for Friday in Recorder's Court. King is charged with disorderly conduct, congregating on the sidewalk and refusing to obey an officer while participating in a prayer vigil 11 days ago.

The cities where prayer vigils are planned are Chicago, Boston, Los Angeles, Detroit, Atlanta, Philadelphia, Washington, San Diego, Sacramento, Richmond and Fresno, Calif.; Hartford, Conn.; and Lynchburg, Va.

2 Injured In Auto Mishaps

4 Charged After Weekend Collisions

Two East Palestine men were hurt in separate traffic accidents on area highways Saturday. Four drivers were arrested by state patrolmen from the Lisbon barracks in the three accidents they investigated over the weekend.

James E. Robb, 26, of RD 2, East Palestine, is in fairly good condition at Salem City Hospital with a possible concussion and abrasions of the body received in a two-car accident on Rt. 154, three miles east of Rogers, at 6:20 p.m. Saturday.

The patrol said Cecil Guy, 28, of Negley attempted to pass Robb but cut back into the right lane too sharply and struck the East Palestine man's vehicle. Robb's car then ran off the road and hit a culvert and utility pole.

Both cars had been traveling east at a high rate of speed, the patrol reported. Each driver was cited for reckless operation.

James E. Noel, 23, of East Palestine, was treated and released at Salem City Hospital for injuries suffered at 5:50 p.m. Saturday when his car failed to negotiate a curve on Rt. 170, about a half-mile south of East Palestine, and crashed head-on into another car.

Noel received multiple bruises and minor lacerations. The other driver, William N. Reidy, 42, of RD 1, East Palestine, escaped injury.

According to the Patrol, Reidy was stopped, headed south, waiting to make a left turn into a private drive when Noel's northbound car went left of center, causing the crash. Noel was arrested for reckless operation.

Henry Harrison Kelly, 21, of RD 1, Negley, escaped injury at 7:10 p.m. Saturday when his car failed to negotiate a curve on Rt. 170 and ran off the road into a corn field about three miles south of East Palestine. There was some damage to stocks of sweet corn in the field owned by Edward Mackall of Negley.

Kelly was cited for reckless operation.

Isabell Roessler Price, 52, of 289 S. Howard Ave., was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail Sunday by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer for driving while intoxicated.

Arrested by police Sunday on S. Broadway at Wilson St., Mrs. Price also was fined $10 and costs.

Engineers At Work On New County Project

13-Mile Relocation From Pennsylvania State Line Planned

Engineering consultants have begun work on construction plans for relocation of State Route 14 in Columbiana and Mahoning Counties which will extend 12.3 miles from an interchange with proposed State Route 11 east to meet Pennsylvania State Route 51 at the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line.

State Route 11 is the Lake Erie to Ohio River road which will extend from Ashtabula to East Liverpool and running north and south through Mahoning and Columbiana counties.

Ohio Highway Department officials announced today that the Brown Engineers and John Glancy consulting engineering firm of Canfield is expected to complete preliminary plans on the $10,108,000 project by December of this year.

The new highway is being designed as a four-lane, fully limited access road, which is expected to reduce the accident rate on this stretch by two-thirds. The present two-lane facility averages 43 accidents a year, and in 1961 three fatalities were recorded, records show.

Plan Hearing on Change

Meanwhile, the Highway Department has scheduled a public hearing Aug. 14 in the all-purpose room of Dixon Elementary School at Columbiana to discuss the proposed location for 13.3 miles of the proposed Lake Erie to Ohio River Freeway between State Route 558 in Columbiana County and U.S. Route 224 east of Canfield in Mahoning County. Time will be 2 p.m. (DST).

The location of the proposed route which has been designated State Route 11 by the State Highway Department will be generally east of a previously established alignment covered in a hearing held during January, 1959. Change in the alignment has been made after further engineering studies and consultations with local

After Two Years of Freedom, The Congo Is Still In a Mess

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Telstar, thalidomide, testing, taxes and senatorial talkfests have pushed the Congo contest down in the news. It may be explosive news before year's end.

The Congo was born in shocking anarchy two years ago when it got its independence from Belgium. Thanks to the United Nations and its troops—it has 6,500 there now—order was restored. In this way the central government of Premier Cyrille Adoula got on its wobbly feet. But it's in sad shape.

The United States and other Western powers fear new anarchy if Adoula falls—his grip is reported weakening — with a take-over by extremists and eventually perhaps by communism.

The key problem is still what it was two years ago. Katanga Province, which seceded from the central republic, still won't unify with it.

Dickering between Adoula and Katanga President Moise Tshombe ended in June with no solution after six months of talking.

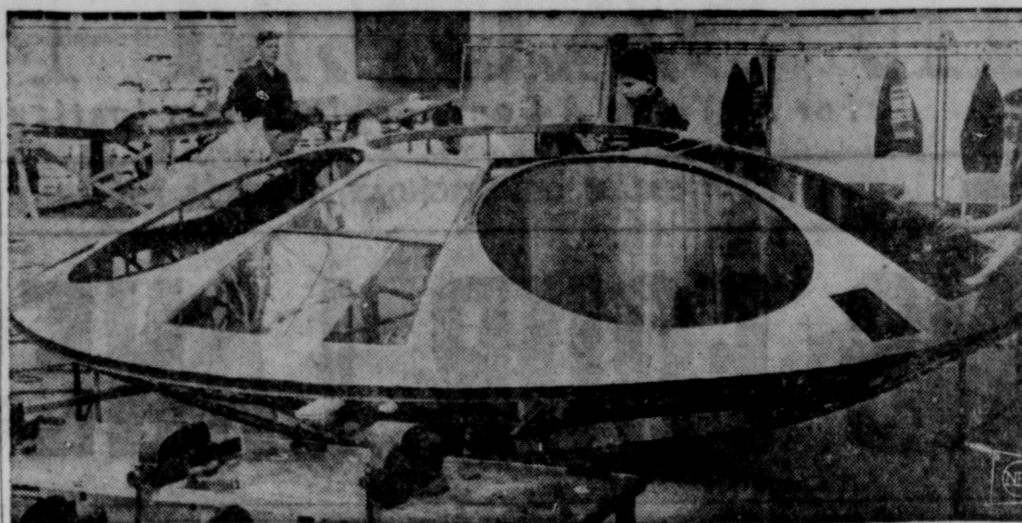

The Congo in general is poor. Katanga is rich in mineral resources controlled by rich British and Belgian interests that pay taxes to Tshombe's government, not Adoula's.

Adoula's government is pretty much in hock from big expenses it doesn't have the income to pay for. Katanga, as part of the central government, would make a rich difference.

For instance, while the central government's economy is in tatters it has to support a big army, big for the Congo. Adoula's government is still in a mess just trying to run itself.

The United States and other governments have been thinking of ways to force Tshombe, without war, to join up with the central government.

The thinking has been along the lines of economic pressure, like getting the British-Belgian mining interests in Katanga to pay their revenue to Adoula's government, or boycotting the Katanga mineral products.

Meanwhile, U.N. efforts in the Congo cost big money. To raise it the United Nations is trying to sell $200 million in bonds to member nations. President Kennedy wants Congress to approve $100 million as this country's share.

But this proposal has run into trouble in Congress where not all members favor it and some are sympathetic to Katanga. Last Friday Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., strongly criticized U.S. and U.N. policy in the Congo.

He's against economic pressure on Tshombe and Katanga. Some in Congress want to be sure other nations buy at least $100 million in bonds before this country buys the other $100 million.

So, after two years of freedom, the Congo is a mess.

He ran to the flagpole on the beach, hauled down the Spanish flag and replaced it with the bikini piece. "We intended no harm," one Englishman told police.

Choose Outdoor Furniture For Comfort, Appearance

Some people lose decorating perspective when it comes to the outdoors, especially when summer furniture clearance sales are under way.

Many proponents of good design have criticized outdoor furniture, believing we should put more effort into furnishing our outdoors in a manner that complements our indoors.

People with ordinary backyards, fancy terraces or more elaborate patios should take into consideration the same things when choosing furniture:

Is it durable if it must be left out?

If not, do we have a place to store it?

Will it flatter the place where it is to be used?

TWICE BLESSED IS THE person who need not worry about impressing anyone, and can choose what fits his individual requirements for comfort and appearance, regardless of price.

One needs a practiced eye to determine furniture that will most flatter his yard. Sale merchandise is not always the answer. But often if one is willing to wait, and has determined what best fits his needs, he may find attractive bargains.

FURNITURE SHOULD be considered just as much of an investment outdoors as indoors, no matter what the price. Furniture that can be moved to sunroom, enclosed porch, den or playroom in winter offers inducements for wise purchasers.

If one is choosing furniture for a brick or flagstone terrace, the heaviest wrought iron furniture can be used. This furniture is available in designs that are more beautiful than ever with chic, weatherproof cushions. If this furniture is to be used on a lawn, however, it may be too heavy and wear into the soil in lopsided fashion that does not provide comfort. Temperamental mowers of lawns are likely to rebel at having to move heavy lawn furniture.

FURNITURE THAT IS too light offers disadvantages also, and it often takes a beating in storms. It presents danger on city apartment building terraces because it can blow from its terraced perch, and sail into a window pane or even blow to the street or another terrace.

Many stores sell inexpensive folding furniture made of line which people like to weather outdoors, storing the pieces compactly in garage or cellar during winter. But often the hardness of this furniture is deceiving and one leaves it out during winter, only to find that nails have rusted and the wood has given way at various points.

Redwood is attractive and is a sturdy wood that mellows with age, suited particularly well to country living.

INEXPENSIVE NATURAL rattan furniture imported from the Orient is available each year. It stacks easily for storage and takes well to paint finishes. These pieces can be attractive on lawn, sun porch or on patio, used with colorful cushions.

Director style chairs are very durable, fold for storage and are popular in the country and at the shore. The long-lived chairs can be kept looking good by replacing seats and backs with canvas or sail cloth whenever necessary.

Modern style outdoor furniture is available in great quantity. Lots of it is unattractive and garish. There are some interesting and sensible pieces available however.

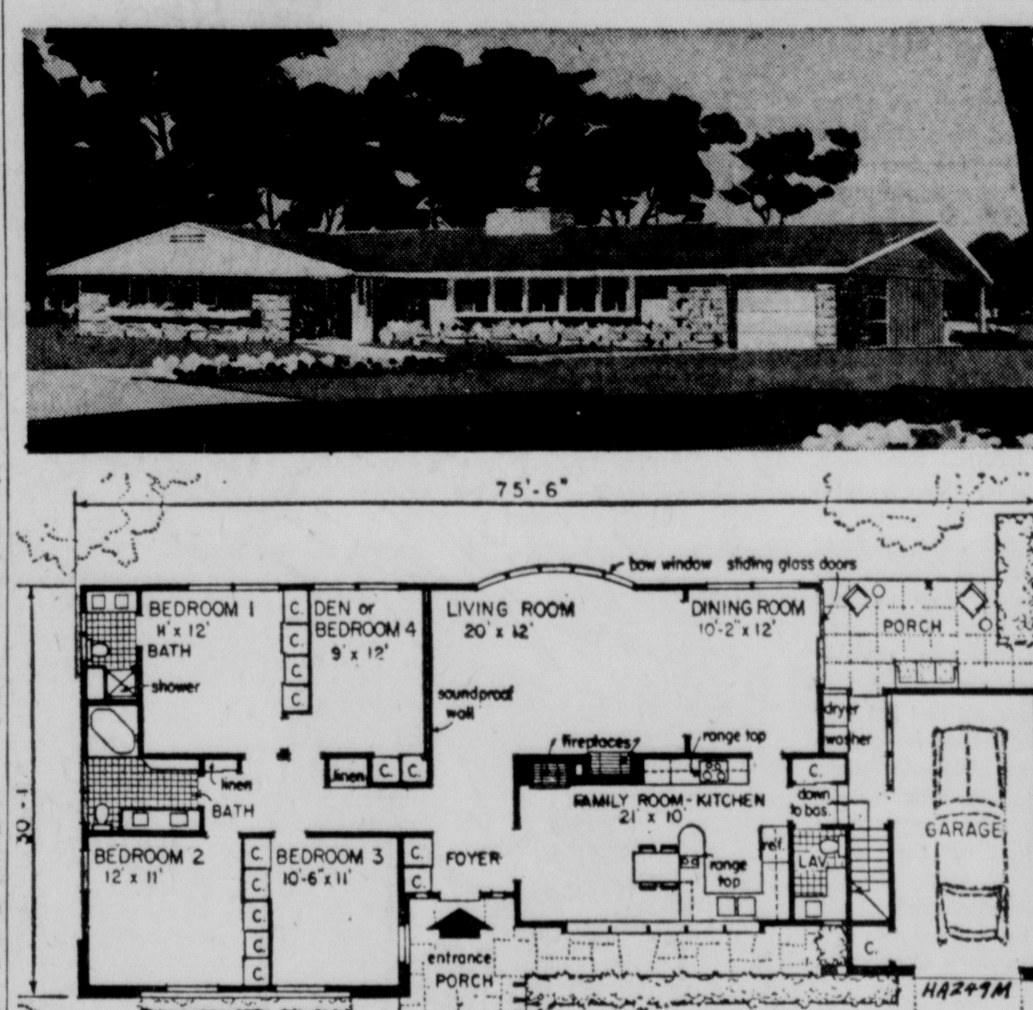

Those who like rockers can find old-fashioned comfort available in a streamlined look combining wood rockers and washable vinyl cord back and seat.

Asphalt Roofing Has Many Roles In Construction

Asphalt roofing products are designed primarily for roofing but they have become among the most versatile building materials available today.

Chiefly, this is because asphalt is the best waterproofing agent known. Asphalt roofing products also are pliable as well as tough and long-lasting.

Here are just a few of the non-roofing uses for these asphalt products:

Asphalt roll roofing makes an attractive garden walk, and is effective as a lining for swimming pools and gutters. Farmers often use it as temporary flooring for livestock shelters, and to construct temporary grain cribs.

Asphalt-saturated felt, designed as underlayment for roofs, is used widely between sheathing and exterior siding on all kinds of structures, and is an effective ground cover in crawl spaces, keeping moisture in the ground and out of the house.

In roofing, there's an asphalt product to fit every possible need. Asphalt shingles provide color and soft-textured richness for homes. They are available in wind-resistant applications, and are fire-resistant. Asphalt roll roofing is ideal for farm buildings and many industrial structures. Built-up asphalt roofing is used for most flat-roofed structures.

Cheery Sisters
Members of the Cheery Sisters 4-H Club discussed their project books when they met recently at Stoffer's Lake.

Plans were made to obtain more material for the float they plan to enter in the parade at the county fair. A cookout was enjoyed after the business meeting.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Sherry Zimmerman.

LANDSCAPE ADVICE OFFERED

A two-day program for homeowners and professional landscape workers is included in the field day schedule at the Ohio Ag-Lawn and Ornamentals Days are scheduled for Sept. 18 and 19 at the Wooster Station. The 18th is for professionals, and the 19th for homeowners and garden clubs.

Demonstrations and discussions of research findings will cover many of the problems which face both professionals and amateurs. The program for the two days will highlight the latest research work in the constant battle against weeds and insect pests affecting lawns and ornamental plantings.

Driftwood Can Serve As Home Conversation Piece

Every home needs a conversation piece, particularly one that shows off the home owner's creative effort. It doesn't have to be elaborate. A piece of driftwood, for instance, can be ideal, as this letter indicates:

"I have collected a good deal of driftwood from various places and have made a number of interesting displays for our summer cottage. We have a driftwood lamp base, driftwood flower arrangements and driftwood in shadow boxes. But my greatest find was a four-foot long seasoned trunk with three gnarled but graceful branches. I don't know what to do with it to get the greatest use out of it. I have thought of putting it in a large pot and placing it on our terrace, but I wonder if you have any suggestions for using it in a more practical way."

room, where we have a lovely view, so that even though we have a large room, it always looks crowded and uncomfortable.

For one thing, the first guest usually seeks out the sofa, others come in and follow suit until comfortable space is used up. Then others sit on the floor or stand. You can solve it by leading the first guest to the window. Ditto second and third.

BUT AN EASIER solution would be to move the coffee table away from the sofa. If it is at a wall it will still be useful to hold food, cigarettes and glasses. Or another table could be put at the other end of the room, but in that case you will have two huddles. You could remove the large coffee table from the room and use only small, very low tables next to each chair, large enough to hold an ash tray and glass. That way people will push their chairs up a bit and talk across

IF THE SURFACE OF THE trunk can be polished flat on one side it could make a lovely coffee table balanced on wrought iron end pieces. Scroll or filigree designed bases would be prettier than severe contemporary style end pieces, offering more warmth to the wood. The iron could be left black or it could even be painted in one of the warm tones if that harmonizes with your home furnishings. A vibrant blue, mustard, deep wine red, and even a vivid orange would be lovely if one of the colors suits your cottage.

Another idea could be to place the tree outdoors (perhaps in the pot you mentioned) spotlighting it in such a way that an enormous shadow is thrown on one side of the house. If the branches resemble arms you might get a ballet dancer effect in the shadow; wings could give you a bird motif. A person who has had some success with driftwood usually can alter the wood slightly, keeping its basic lines so that the piece can become an unusual design, and in its own way an interesting work of art.

ANOTHER LETTER describes an old problem, a large room that really prefers to be small.

"We have a large living room, 32 x 20 at one end of which is a large sofa, two chairs and a long five-foot coffee table. The other end of the room is a large picture window, a beautiful view of a lake and four chairs. When we have company however, everyone congregates at the sofa end of the room. No one seeks out the chairs at the other end of the a room. A tall, long table behind the sofa could push the sofa forward and away from the wall to help achieve that end.

Large rooms always seem desirable but their very size often intimidates guests. It should be decorated to make it look smaller and for cozier effects even though spaciousness is required.

Another Kind of Computer

Have you been keeping posted on the giant strides being made by computers?

Military men are restless because Secretary of Defense McNamara used computers to make an adverse decision about the RS-70 reconnaissance strike bomber. The decision later was modified by Congress but the original decision stands—and it is still adverse.

Computers in the Pentagon conduct war games and choose the best weapons and designs from hundreds of alternatives. Computers in the State Department eventually may guide foreign policy.

The medical profession is hearing about computers that will speed up diagnosis and recommendations for treatment. A department store has used computers to make Christmas gift suggestions.

Business managers are increasingly aware that computers are edging into what they once considered their right to make all decisions. The computer in the classroom already is an established adjunct to teaching. Tax collection is being turned over to computers by the Internal Revenue Service. Banks and insurance companies use them to speed up billing and actuarial forecasting, of ticketing and answering inquiries about space.

When it is considered that the machines are still in an early stage of development, the future implications of their use are beyond imagining. But there is one area where computers are strangely absent—the area of disputation.

Every decision in a society that not only permits but encourages debate is open to challenge. The individuals and organizations that expect to do the challenging will be helpless without the aid of their own critical computers to offset "decisions" they refuse to accept.

There will need to be computers that will start by saying, "Yes, but —" and then proceed with lightning-like alacrity to demolish the opposing computer's decision.

Trouble Goes With the Deal

Do not be shocked if the much-publicized Alliance for Progress gets kicked in the teeth in Argentina, the way it was kicked in Peru.

It would be a natural hookup for Juan Peron and his followers to combine forces with international communism against the wavering government of President Jose Maria Guido. International power politics makes strange bedfellows too.

International communism must fight the Alliance for Progress in Latin America for the same reason it fought the Marshall Plan in Europe. Communist must fight every project that promises to stabilize governments it neither can dominate or overthrow. Its purpose is world revolution.

Communist agents always find local talent to help them attack U.S. moves to stabilize governments by improving the living conditions of the least privileged and therefore most dissatisfied citizens. What is more embarrassing, communists always can get a hearing by these dissatisfied citizens because they can promise them speedy deliverance through revolution. The United States can promise only gradual improvement—an attractive proposition to have-nots.

There will be trouble in Argentina. There will be trouble every place marked for trouble by international communism—Berlin, Buenos Aires, Panama City, Tokyo, a factory in the U.S. Midwest, an island in the Pacific, a submarine base in Scotland, a spot on the map of Africa.

Americans never should be shocked when Communists make trouble. It is as standard a part of the times as windy statements by the U.S. government about the great expectations of every new plan for fighting communism with dollars.

If Washington boasted less, there might be less trouble.

Coordinated Studies

If the Board of Education ever gets possession of the old Post Office building and also funds to remodel it, the downtown structure could become a school for specialized study.

Coincidental with the recently announced plans to open a Kent State University Center in Salem, local educators envision the old post office as a place where, perhaps, the Kent classes could be held, the Salem Technical School might function, and the trades class and Salem School of Practical Nursing might want to meet for certain studies.

A lot of "if" factors are involved because the building is still owned by the Post Office Department and the school board, which has no extra capital improvements funds, realizes $75,000 might be required to convert the structure. Even an addition at some later date would require financial support.

School officials' constant objective is enlarged and coordinated educational opportunities for Salem district people, whether or not the post office building is ever utilized. We should be thankful that they have the foresight to explore every possibility to broaden our system, both academically and physically.

Cut Those Weeds

It's only because of the carelessness of property owners that the city health department is forced each summer to take drastic measures to have weeds on vacant lots cut.

If these people had enough pride in the appearance of their own properties and the community as a whole, the city laborers wouldn't have to start out this week with sickle and scythe. The noxious weeds are hard on hay fever sufferers, too.

If you don't want to get an assessment, you'd better get busy. A few of these lots are close to the busy downtown district, too.

Credit Where Due

By Truman Twill

Any day now they'll begin to fire baseball managers again. Later, they will fire football coaches. Then basketball coaches.

When it happens, editorialists and columnists will crack their typographical knuckles and make it appear that sadness and injustice have fallen upon the land. This is an effort to forestall such nonsense.

As long as these people claim credit for success, they deserve blame for failure.

If it's impossible to give credit where it's due, no one should squawk about placing blame where it doesn't belong.

Everybody knows a baseball manager gets paid a handsome salary under a handsome contract to do as little harm as possible in a situation that tempts a busybody to do as much harm as possible.

Everybody knows a football coach draws his money for bringing together on one team by hook or crook enough top talent to roll over most of the opposition from year to year and that his prowess as a gridiron tactician and a teacher of athletes has nothing to do with it.

Everybody knows a basketball coach's skill is in direct ratio to the number of feet over 5 times 6, or 30, that he can put to work in a given basketball game. Give the man one 7-ft. player or five 6-6 players and he will be a genius.

Or take the case of generals and admirals whose statues litter public parks and buildings because at a critical instant they had the services of good marksmen and officers who knew their way around their jobs. If they are heroes when their boys win they, too, deserve to get it where they get it when their boys lose — in their necks.

This is the way it goes. And this is the way it should go, until the time comes when credit can be given where it's due. Progress is being made.

People who get Oscars for their work in movies make a fuss over the people who "made this honor possible." Receivers of Emmy awards for their work in television always mention everybody who worked on the show.

When this idea becomes more general, even politicians will pass along credit where it's due. Baseball pitchers will claim no credit for winning games that would have been lost without tight fielding. Halfbacks will point to their blockers when asked about the secret of their long gains.

All the people who preen themselves over the accomplishments of others will be whittled back to life-size. They will be "Stengelized", so to speak, after a technique perfected in 1962 when a former "genius" who was unbeatable with the talent supplied by the New York Yankees couldn't win for trying with a relatively untalented outfit called the New York Metropolitans.

It will be mandatory for all success stories to submit themselves to this acid test or hand back the big money they were commanding as holders of the golden keys to success.

Want to bet it won't be a better world?

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

ATHENS
A mystery plane streaked across Greece on March 30. It refused to identify itself. In a few minutes skilled Greek fliers forced it down. The strange plane, it developed, had been in the control of the personal pilot of Egypt's dictator, Gamal Nasser. It was strange indeed — for it had some $2 million in gold bullion aboard. And it was headed for Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

Victor Riesel

The Egyptian pilot was returned to Cairo. Later, my informant tells me, the plane and the gold followed. Why this bullion was headed for Tito's capital no one quite knows. The point is that Nasser an outspoken critic and international opponent of the United States and a neo-Socialist, trusted his friend Tito sufficiently to place the gold in his care.

I report this because of the controversy back home over aid to Communist Yugoslavia. Some of Tito's champions owe us criticism of Tito's communism here in the Balkans, an explanation. How does it happen that Yugoslavia is constantly dealing with our enemies and gets our aid, while such lands as Greece, whose peoples' blood drenched the countryside during the Communist invasion a decade ago, get their U.S. aid slashed?

There are many instances of Tito's wooing the Iron Curtain bloc north. Shortly after I flew into central Europe I learned of the visit to Moscow of a topside Yugoslavian delegation.

THAT WAS on the afternoon of July 2. The delegation was headed by none other than Yugoslavian vice president Mijalko Todorovic. With Tito spending more and more time away from his administrative offices, Todorovic is mighty topside. He runs much of the nation. He is philosophically, intellectually, politically, and in any other fashion, anti-United States.

His mission to Moscow was to negotiate with the Russians for the expansion of economic cooperation between the U.S.S.R. and Yugoslavia. Obviously the Kremlin placed high priority on all this. At the Vnukovo Airport to greet Todorovic were none other than first Deputy Premier Mikoyan, First Deputy Minister of Foreign Trade Arkhipov, Deputy Foreign Minister Firubin, and the rest of the Soviet economic delegation to the negotiations. Mikoyan will head this negotiating committee.

It can be reported positively that during their talks the Russians found considerable sympathy among the Yugoslavs on one point: the Khrushchev people believe most important: The Russians want the Belgrade government to fight the Common Market. The Kremlin wants the Yugoslavs to come into the "Comecon" — the Soviet counterpart of our Common Market.

Todorovic indicated he was for it and would try to prevail on his people to take such a stand. Such a move would mean open economic warfare with us and our allies — even while we are pouring millions into Yugoslavia.

NOR IS THIS the only sign of alignment between Belgrade and the Communist International. The Soviets have given tanks to the Yugoslavs. Why? Certainly not because they expect the Tito government to use them against the Sino-Soviet bloc in an emergency. The Belgrade government now has drawn closer to the touch Communist government in Sofia, Bulgaria. Thus there is a tightening of the lines between Moscow and Belgrade and the satellites.

Certainly the Yugoslavs will not become one of the Soviet's satellites. But the sentiment in many foreign diplomatic circles is that Belgrade will parallel Moscow. Parallelism is as dangerous to us as satellite-ism. Furthermore, many of our friends among the free nations see us supporting parallelism. They say to themselves that the U.S. really doesn't know what it is doing with its money and support. So we lose face and considerable prestige.

There also is another Belgrade export which we back home know anything about. The Yugoslav export is invisible. It is the spreading of the doctrine of a type of national socialism and "works councils" to run factories. This means that a shop or factory committee really decides how a plant shall operate, how its produce shall be distributed, what wages shall be paid and whether there should be profits to the state, or to some private investor.

THIS PHILOSOPHY of production is being shipped to such lands as Algeria, Ghana, and even far-off Dahomey, where the U.S. and our allies have considerable investments. Those investments will be worth nothing if Yugoslavia succeeds in spreading its form of works-councils socialism and controlled production throughout Africa.

Our ambassador to Belgrade, George Kennan, has said that criticism of aid to Yugoslavia is "vindictive" action. That hardly seems fair on Mr. Kennan's part.

Is it vindictive to oppose honestly the spread of Tito's type of Communism and to object strenuously to his constant cooperation with the enemies of the U.S.?

Trade Cheers Japs

U.S. Buying More Japanese Goods Than Ever

TOKYO
Japan's best customer — the United States — is buying more Japanese transistor radios, sewing machines and steel tools than ever before.

The recent upsurge in Japanese exports to the United States, which normally accounts for one-third of Japan's overseas sales, is bringing smiles to the faces of businessmen alike.

It is cheering news at a time when Japan's economy is having troubles variously described as a "readjustment period," a "slow-down" or a "quasi-recession." But government officials and businessmen are nervous about the future. They don't know yet what effect the Wall Street tumble will have on consumer demand in the United States for Japanese products.

A Japanese newspaper columnist commented: "Should U.S. business go into a recession again this fall, Japan's international payments, which have been improving recently, will again deteriorate."

Emphasizing the importance of American trade, one Japanese businessman said, "When the American economy sneezes; the Japanese economy catches cold."

But at the moment trade statistics are a cause for optimism.

Ministry of International Trade and Industry officials reported that exports to the United States in the April-June quarter were 30 per cent higher than in the same three months a year ago and business in the next three months will be every bit as good.

They confidently predicted that exports to the United States in the 12-month period from April 1, 1962 to March 31, 1963 — Japan's business year — would score a 20 per cent gain.

They said that exports to America during the first six months of 1962 totalled about $668 million on a payment and receipts basis compared to $486 million during the same period in 1961.

During this period, Japan's total exports amounted to $2.3 billion, a hike of 17.1 per cent over the previous year.

These officials said the increase in exports to the United States is due to an upsurge in American consumer demand and an active export drive launched in Japan to overcome its adverse trade balance.

"America is buying record amounts of iron and steel products, cotton fabrics, radio transistors, tape recorders, sewing machines, plywood and other products, one official told me.

However the Japanese government also gleefully reported that while exports are on the rise to the United States, American imports to Japan are standing still, raising hopes here that Japan's unfavorable balance of trade with American will be reduced this year.

Ministry of International Trade and Industry officials estimated that Japan will be in the red in its trade balance with the United States by only about $400 to $500 million this year.

But to the Japanese this looks good compared to fiscal 1961 when the imbalance stood at about $775 million, with U.S. imports up to $1.98 billion and Japanese exports registering only $1.20 billion.

Hospital Insurance Rates

I have just read where "Blue Cross Hikes Rates In District". When will Blue Cross and the State Insurance Department come to the understanding that any plan which presumes to pay all of the hospital expenses is doomed to a constant necessity for raising rates?

At first thought it sounds like a good idea to have hospital insurance which pays the entire bill. However, the unfortunate fact is that this system leads to unnecessary use and abuse (albeit unintentional) of hospital services because it does not provide any clear incentive for anyone to keep the costs down. 8

From the patient's viewpoint it makes no difference if he stays an extra day or two, because it doesn't cost him anything any way. From the hospital viewpoint it is more efficient to operate at near capacity, so if the bed is available let the patient use it and collect from Blue Cross. From the doctor's viewpoint he can treat many more hospital patients than home patients.

Blue Cross has made the public conscious of the need for hospital expense insurance; but the system has undoubtedly been a big factor influencing the upward spiral of hospital operating costs. These climbing expenses penalize everyone! Most seriously hurt is the patient who pays his own bill or who has private insurance to help cover it.

Blue Cross could relieve the problem by requiring the patient to pay a moderate percentage of the bill. The type of coverage which calls for the patient to pay even $2 or $3 per day would immediately focus attention on these unnecessarily high costs, so that the public would assist in keeping these costs at a minimum. No insurance plan has ever been consistently successful in holding the line on rates when the plan offered full coverage without collecting some payment from the patient. Our labor unions in particular could aid their members and everyone else by recognizing and promoting this understanding of the problem.

Unless some remedial action is taken we are doomed to an unnecessary but ever increasing cost of hospital service resulting in higher rates.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our house is so full of sadness you'd think somebody died.

The reason? My brother didn't get into Harvard. Bud received the letter this morning and my mother went completely to pieces.

Dad came home from the office early and he's in pretty bad shape, too. You see, he went to Harvard and so did my grandfather.

I feel worse for my brother than anyone. He stayed in his room all evening — wouldn't even come down for dinner.

Bud is a good student and an all-around athlete. He didn't want to go to Harvard in the first place but my dad made him feel no other school would do. He was offered a scholarship to a small college in Ohio but my folks made him turn it down.

Now I don't know what he'll do. He talks as if he might forget about college for now and go right into the service.

Please tell me why parents put so much pressure on their children to go to certain schools? Some of my friends are nervous wrecks over this. It all seems very unfair.—SAD SISTER.

Dear Sister: This misguided parental preoccupation with "certain schools" is a combination of snob appeal and the desire of parents to relieve their youth through their children.

Harvard is an excellent school, but there are many excellent schools and it may well be that the smaller college in Ohio would have been better than Harvard for your brother.

Anxiety and tension among high school students is great these days and I have a hunch the drive to get into "name" schools is a major factor. Almost without exception the parents are doing the pushing. This can be painful and damaging to the student who does his best but can't make the grade. I hope those parents who are widely ambitious for their children will see this and lay off.

Unforgiving Mother

Dear Ann: Four years ago I

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

A Project For Retired People

In a book published and distributed by the Association for the Aid of Crippled Children, "ordinary" people tell in their own words what it is like to endure a physical handicap.

The editors draw attention to the fact that the physically handicapped child or adult is "no more and no less than a human being." They state further that, "for the professional fund-raiser, he is not a person but an 'image' whose sole function is to inspire pity in the hearts and minds of fellow Americans in order to open their purse strings." In certain books and articles, he is "viewed in the abstract, again not as a human being but as a statistic, or a case study."

Youngstown Thieves Rob Store of $18,000

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Hiding in the trunk of a car paid off handsomely for two robbers.

A search was underway for two masked men who kidnapped a city policeman and a supermarket store manager Saturday night and fled with $18,000 in store receipts.

Patrolman Paul O'Neil and Walter McElwan, manager of the A&P store on Belmont Avenue, left the store to make the regular trip to the Dollars Savings & Trust Co. a block away.

O'Neil, on vacation and working as a guard for the supermarket, said he checked the floor and rear seat of his car before he and McElwan got into it.

As the car turned the corner the two men hiding in the trunk pushed the back seat forward. Brandishing guns, they told O'Neil to continue driving. After a four-block ride, they ordered O'Neil and McElwan out.

O'Neil's car, in which the robbers fled, was recovered later.

book, called "Experiments in Survival," each of the physically handicapped tells what it is like to "learn to survive and to function." The reader will find that the handicapped person is far different from the cliches by which he has been depicted in the past.

Or, to put it in simplest terms, the smiling child whose picture appears on the poster is not always the happy image that impresses itself on the mind of the casual viewer, as he and his parents could attest if they had an opportunity to speak for themselves.

I call this book and these facts to your attention, not to downgrade the good intentions and splendid work of fund-raisers, whether professional or amateur, but to direct your attention to the simple and direct things you can do for a physically handicapped child—and its gravely handicapped parents — beyond what your money contribution may do whether great or small.

AND I PARTICULARLY speak to those who, through retirement and an assured living, find themselves with time on their hands. For, wherever you live and whatever your circumstances, there must be at least one physically handicapped child, or the parents of a physically handicapped child to whom you could devote some spare time and surplus energies.

This could mean a blind child to whom you could read; a crippled child you could take for a daily airing; the mother of a cardiac invalid who could get her marketing done while you sit with the child; the parents of an asthmatic who might indulge in an evening of entertainment or a day of idle loafing while you do "sentry duty."

None of these acts will win you public notice, to be sure. And perhaps, they'll not be as amusing or dramatic as the situations you'd miss if you remained home with television. But you might find, after your first few experiences, that you could get along without your tranquilizer or pep pill. And maybe even manage to feel alive again without a vitamin shot.

Traditional wedding music was played by Sylvia Curl and Mrs. Russell Barrow was soloist.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents the bride wore a gown of white nylon lace over taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodice, scalloped Sabrina neckline and long sleeves. The gathered bouffant skirt was accented with a bustle bow. Her fingertip length veil of silk illusion was caught to a cap of puckered taffeta with an edging of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis and ivy foliage with shower streamers of white piquat edged ribbons.

Janet Davis, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Suzanne Sullivan, sister of the bridegroom, and Carol Butler, Vickie Dailey, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

The attendants wore short sleeved street length dresses of white nylon lace over sea-foam green taffeta styled similar to that of the bride and Dior bow headpieces of white organza. They carried Colonial bouquets of sweetheart roses and carnations. The dress of the flower girl was of white dotted Swiss over taffeta with a sea-foam green sash. All gowns, including that of the bride, were fashioned by the mother and aunt, Mrs. William Davis, of the bride.

Best man was Jack Barton and Donald Hiet and Allan Wise ushered.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR HELOISE: Here's how I wash my corduroy articles. While the fabric is still wet when I take it out of my washing before hanging it on the clothes-line.

I take my hairbrush (or any vegetable brush will do as long as it's clean) and brush the corduroy along the wale once or twice while it is drying. This seems to fluff up the corduroy, henceforth requires no ironing at all.

INA MOORE

DEAR HELOISE: My two children often are invited to birthday parties of their small friends. Of course, along with the gift for the birthday a card is always enclosed.

I find that if my children will make a cute card of their own on just plain paper and decorate it up with a bit of crayon and little stars, etc., instead of spending 10 cents to a quarter on a store bought card, the recipient is much happier. Besides the good wishes, my sons also get to keep the saved money to do with as they wish.

ARLENE

DEAR HELOISE: A big piece of oilcloth is great to take on picnics and camping to cover worn picnic tables. If a sudden rainstorm should appear, just flip your oilcloth over your supplies. Weight the corners down with stones.

R.S.

DEAR HELOISE: For those with small families who don't want to buy a sprinkling bag, I have found that a plastic, zippered pillow cover is excellent for this. Throw all of your clothes in, put in as much water as you need, close the zipper and let it stand overnight.

SAN JUAN

DEAR HELOISE: We often take long motor trips and carry along our ice cooler. We have found that when the ice cooler sits on the floor of the car, the heat from the motor quickly melts the ice. To eliminate this, my husband bought a piece of styrofoam and cut it to fit inside of the cooler.

Place the styrofoam inside the cooler on the bottom. The extra insulation not only makes a big difference on how long the contents stay cool but keeps any rust spots off the inside of your cooler.

Design of the proposed route would be similar to Interstate standards with four lanes of pavement and an 84-foot wide dividing strip separating opposing pairs of lanes. According to the standards, grade separations would be provided with the majority of intersecting roads and interchanges at designated state and U. S. routes.

According to Highway Division 11 Deputy Director William P. McKenna, who will conduct the hearing, field work has been completed by the state's consulting engineer for this section of the route. Construction would probably take place in two separate contracts.

Also included in the hearing will be a four-tenths mile relocation of State Route 344 where the proposed Freeway crosses Route 344 about halfway between Leetonia and Columbiana.

The new location for Route 11 leaves the previously described proposal at its intersection with State Route 558 in Fairfield Township, Columbiana County, and joins the previous location just south of the Ohio Turnpike at U.S. Route 224.

State Highway Department officials and representatives of the consulting engineer will be on hand to answer questions following the formal portion of the hearing. An exhibit showing the alignment will be on display during the meeting.

Two Current Projects

Bids will be open by the Ohio Highway Department Tuesday for two other road improvement projects in Columbiana County. ANSWER FIRE CALL

Firemen answered a call at 12:26 a.m. Saturday to the Georgetown Road south of Salem where a car had caught fire following an accident. The driver of the car, John Weinard of Canton, was treated and released at the Central Clinic. The vehicle failed to negotiate a curve and crashed into an embankment. The fire was out by the time firemen arrived.

Adams pleaded not guilty to the intoxication charge but he was found guilty by Mayor Cranmer and fined $10 and costs. He also was fined $10 and costs for disorderly conduct and $25 and costs for resisting arrest. Adams pleaded guilty to each of these charges.

Marian Maruskin, 47, of 741 W. Pershing St., was fined $10 and costs today for reckless operation. She was cited by police following a two-car mishap on Sharp Ave. at Prospect St. at 3:25 p.m. Sunday. Police said Mrs. Maruskin sideswiped a parked car owned by John Gallagher of 379 Sharp St.

Gause Wins Trophy For Marksmanship

LISBON—Deputy Sheriff James (Ronné) Gause won the sharpshooters class in the .45 calibre automatic time fire last week at the National Pistol Championship at Camp Perry with a score of 193 out of a possible 200.

Gause also attended a 3-day school prior to the competition sponsored by the U. S. Army on small arms firearms training and received a pistol instruction certificate.

Gause has been a deputy for Sheriff Russell VanFossan for the past three years.

Lanker and 12-year-old Bea were found kneeling at the bed. Mrs. Lanker and Thomas, 9, were on the floor.

Police found Ray lying beside a freeway several miles from home. Beside the wounded youth, who never regained consciousness was a pistol, the same one police said was used to kill the family.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., another member of the subcommittee, said in a separate statement that the law should require consent of the patients before a doctor could prescribe a drug like thalidomide. Although thalidomide never was approved for sale in this country it was distributed to 1,231 physicians for possible experimental use. Such distribution is legal, and the doctor is not required to advise a patient he is taking an experimental drug.

Thoughts

I will signal for them and gather them in, for I have redeemed them, and they shall be as many as of old.—Zechariah 10:8.

Underneath all the arches of Scripture history, throughout the whole grand temple of the Scriptures, these two voices ever echo, man is ruined, man is redeemed.—C. D. Foss.

Marilyn

Her three husbands had little or nothing to say about her death, at least to newsmen.

Joe Dimaggio the ex-baseball star, flew here Sunday, apparently to be nearby for the funeral.

Her first husband, policeman James E. Dougherty, lives in Los Angeles.

Her mother, an inmate of mental institutions for most of her life, was last confined to a home in nearby La Crescenta.

Marilyn, who had shifted for herself since early childhood, was known to have made a will outlining plans for her own burial.

A business associate said that it had not been found yet and funeral arrangements were pending until its discovery expected later today.

Dimaggio hopped on the first plane leaving San Francisco for Los Angeles after hearing of her death via a radio bulletin. He was in seclusion in a Santa Monica hotel.

Though Marilyn divorced him in 1955, the two had remained good friends.

Playwright Arthur Miller, since remarried, declined to make a public statement on the death of his former wife.

Miller became Miss Monroe's third husband in 1956 and they were divorced last year.

Meanwhile, the coroner's investigators prepared a series of tests to officially determine whether the 36-year-old actress accidentally or intentionally took the overdose of pills that investigators believe killed her.

Coroner Theodore J. Curphey said psychiatric evidence would play an important part in the verdict.

"We will question her friends and others to determine her mood preceding death," the coroner said. "This is most necessary in a case where no notes were found with the body."

"Our investigation so far shows that she did not die a natural death, and we can make a presumptive opinion that death was due to an overdose of a drug."

He said it might be 48 hours before a verdict can be announced.

Thus in death the screen's sex goddess left behind the same mysterious personality contrast that she evinced in life.

As Marilyn Monroe, movie star, she was under a public microscope — exciting, wanted and mobbed by adoring fans.

Her more than a score of movies since her first big break in "The Asphalt Jungle" of 1950 had grossed $200 millions.

At the banks that finance movies, her name on a contract meant unlimited credit for a producer.

Only her last two movies, "Let's Make Love" and "The Misfits," had been disappointing at the box office — a fact which distressed her.

She seemed happy as Marilyn Monroe, the star, with the spotlights beaming brightly.

But when the lights went off in her lonely bedroom, Marilyn Monroe, the sex symbol, was Norma Jean Baker, lost waif in a lost world.

Her childhood was as publicized as that of the nation's presidents. Every movie fan knew the details — as tragic as her death:

The unwanted and unloved waif, boarded at county expense in a variety of foster homes... a little girl who washed mountains of dirty dishes and scrubbed acres of dirty floors... her little girl body violated by a lecherous roomer in a foster home... her illegitimacy by a father she never saw... a mother she seldom saw outside of mental homes.

All the while dreaming of becoming a movie star—and, when she did, her insecure childhood failed to cushion her against the shocking insecurity of the Hollywood jungle.

Old Dutch Wins 2nd Straight Columbiana County Title

Champs Roll Over Salem Democrats

Old Dutch of the Class AA League romped to its second straight Columbiana County Tournament championship by handing the Salem Democrats a 10-1 defeat Sunday at Kelley Park.

The winners went through the double elimination tourney undefeated by rolling over five consecutive opponents. Last year the defending champs stormed past Stepanic's Tavern 19-5 to cop the laurels.

THE DEMOCRATS EARNED the right to meet Old Dutch, now 16-8 on the season, by tripping East Liverpool Patterson-Wetzel 2-0 and Lincoln Machine 5-2, both on Saturday. The Democrats of the Class A League are now 17-11 overall after posting a 6-2 tournament record.

Both Old Dutch and the Salem Democrats now move on to the District 14 Softball Tournament that gets under way Tuesday at Kelley Park. Lincoln Machine, which finished third in the county event, will serve as the host team in the affair.

Old Dutch spotted the Democrats a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Dave Williams singled and then scored on a triple by Bob Morris.

The winners then went to work as they belted six hits and when the smoke had cleared in the top of the third canto the Democrats found themselves out of the game and trailing 8-1.

A two-out bases loaded single by Red Weingart sparked the eight-run rally for the Old Dutch nine. Ken Schoeni and John Stoffer with a single each along with Bruce Feicht's two one-baggers and Dick Wyss' double aided the Old Dutch rally.

OLD DUTCH ADDED its final two runs in the sixth frame on singles by Feicht, Bob Stallsmith and Dick Youngpeter.

Showing the way for Old Dutch was Feicht with four hits in five trips to the plate. Winning pitcher Stoffer added two safeties.

The Salem Democrats gained the championship game by getting past Lincoln Machine.

The Class A crew worked over Lincoln for five runs in the first five frames before the Class AA aggregation tallied a run. A three-run fifth inning pushed the game out of Lincoln's reach. Lincoln managed to chalk up runs in the sixth and seventh innings.

Winning pitcher Jerry Bryson allowed the Lincoln nine only four hits with Casey Lease rapping a double in the sixth canto to feature for the losers.

The Democrats collected seven safeties off Henry Miller with Chuck Wilson and Bob Morris racking up two hits each.

East Liverpool hurler Chuck McCauley allowed the Democrats five hits but the locals put a lead off double by Jeff Wilson, a sacrifice by John Moulin and a single by Chuck Henderson together in the third canto to take a 1-0 lead which was enough for victory.

SALEM ADDED ITS final tally in the fifth stanza without a hit as two walks and a sacrifice by Chuck Wilson accounted for the tally.

Jeff Wilson with two doubles sparked the Democrats.

Frank Kenny rapped a double and a single off winning pitcher John Moulin for the East Liverpool crew. McCauley suffered the loss but fanned 11 batters.

Ivy Is 3rd Mentor In As Many Years

Oilers Open Exhibition Season Under New Coach

By The Associated Press

The Houston Oilers, champions of the American Football League during its first two seasons, enjoy a change now and then, particularly if it happens to be a head coach or three.

That's how many the Oilers have had since their inception and with each change comes further success. First it was the Eastern Division and league title under Lou Rymkus the first season.

When Rymkus' team began to fade early last year, Wally Lemm came on and never lost a game as the Oilers once more dominated the league. Then Lemm and Frank (Pop) Ivy of the National Football League's St. Louis Cardinals changed places this year and once more there is a new face at the Oilers' helm.

But there are the same old habits. Houston opened its exhibition season by whipping the New York Titans, under Coach Bulldog Turner for the first time, 33-27 at Houston Saturday night.

This week, the Oilers play the Denver Broncos Friday night at Atlanta, whose fans will then get the NFL's Chicago Bears meeting Pittsburgh the following night as the senior loop beings full-scale exhibition warfare.

In other AFL games, Western Division champion San Diego goes against Dallas, a 13-3 winner Saturday night against Oakland, at home, Boston plays Oakland at Providence, R.I., and New York their first glimpse of a pro team Conn.

The Green Bay Packers get meets Buffalo in New Haven, after their 42-20 victory over the College All-Stars last Friday when they play the Dallas Cowboys in Dallas on Friday night.

The following night, Washington plays the Los Angeles Rams in Los Angeles, Cleveland meets Detroit in Detroit, the Eastern Conference Champion New York Giants play St. Louis at Canton, Ohio for the benefit of pro football's new hall of fame, Baltimore meets Philadelphia at Hershey, Pa., and the Minnesota Vikings face San Francisco in a day game at Seattle as part of the World's Fair activities.

Ivy found he has unbeatable depth at Houston. No. 2 quarterback Jack Lee led the club against the Titans with all-pro signal-caller George Blanda recovering from a pre-training season thyroid operation. Lee threw a pair of touchdown passes, one for 82 yards, the other for 60.

Blanda's kicking chores were taken by halfback Billy Cannon, who booted 42 and 33 yard field goals.

Smith Grange Wins In Hot Stove State Tourney Action

Smith Grange emerged the only victor of the Damascus trio seeking championships in the Hot Stove League state tournament being held in Alliance.

The Class E Grange nine scored a 5-4 win over the Lakeview Rest Home of Mantua while the undefeated Damascus Auction crew of Class G suffered its first loss in 16 outings by losing 8-2 to Willow Hardware of Lorain in Sunday encounters.

On Saturday the Class H Purity Dairy-Beloit Ruritans went down to defeat 6-2 at the hands of the Russell Harp Wildcats of Akron.

Smith Grange will carry a 15-2 overall mark and a 3-0 tournament record into its next game slated for 3:30 p.m. Saturday at Silver Park No. 1 diamond. Two more victories would give the Grange the Class E state championship.

Giants Edge Bucs; Spahn, Musial Star

Cincy, Mets Split; Dodgers' Lead Cut

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Sports Writer

It's obvious Warren Spahn and Stan Musial haven't heard. You know, the bit about them being too old for this sort of thing.

Neither of those sprightly 41-year-old players show any signs of packing it in though.

Spahn, Milwaukee's great lefty, scattered six hits Sunday in gaining the 320th victory of his career, an 8-1 verdict over Philadelphia. It evened his season record at 11-11 and reduced his earned run average to 2.93.

Meanwhile Musial rapped out a double and a single, driving in two runs as St. Louis split a pair with Houston, the Cards losing the first 7-4 and winning the second by the same score. With those two hits, Musial became only the third player in history to pass the 3,500 mark—he now has 3,501—and pushed his National League-leading batting average to .357.

Musial Paces Cards
The Los Angeles Dodgers lost a half game off their first-place margin when they split with the Cubs and San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 2-1. The Dodgers outlasted the Cubs 4-3 in 14 innings in the first game, but lost the nightcap 4-2 and now lead by 4½ games. Cincinnati also split with the New York Mets, losing the first 5-2 and winning the second 6-3.

Spahn missed a shutout Sunday only because of Del Crandall's passed ball in the sixth. He got all the support he needed from Joe Adcock, who drove in five runs with a pair of homers. Eddie Mathews also homered.

Musial's two hits allowed him to join Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb as the only men ever to pass 3,500. He needs only 14 more to tie Speaker for second at 3,515.

Paul Toth spaced seven hits and got the benefit of a five-run Cardinal ninth in winning the nightcap, his first major league start. Houston also came up with a five-run ninth in coming from behind for the opening decision.

Tommy Davis singled in the tying run in the eighth and won the first game for the Dodgers with another run-producing single, his fourth hit of the game, in the 14th. Larry Sherry (6-2) got credit for the victory after seven innings of shutout relief work.

Cardwell Pitches Victory

The Cubs won the second on the three-hit pitching of Don Cardwell, Cardwell (5-11), who hadn't won in a month and a half, had a no-hitter through 5-13 innings.

Billy O'Dell (13-10) pitched a five-hitter and singled in the winning run in San Francisco's victory over Pittsburgh and Bob Fried (12-11).

Al Jackson threw a five-hitter while Rick Herrscher hit a three-run homer and Charlie Neal a solo job as the Mets beat Cincinnati in the opener. The defending league champions salvaged the nightcap as Gordie Coleman hit his 22nd homer and Frank Robinson his 21st.

Chamberlain Fires 27 At Root 62 Links

Jock Chamberlain of Salem recorded the low gross tally over the weekend at Root 62 Golf Course with an even par 27. The course mark of 25 was set by Dusty Rhodes of Alliance earlier in the year.

Bill Bauman of Damascus hit the target on the driving range. The target is 150 yards from the tees.

The club championship, which will be played from scratch, will get started today and will continue throughout August, Larry Root, course owner, announced today.

Pitcher Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers has started three major league all-star games and has held the National League scoreless in each three-inning stint.

Jaipur Tightens Claim To Crown

May Win 3-Year-Old Title In Travers Race

By ORLO ROBERTSON Associated Press Sports Writer

Jaipur's claim to the 3-year-old thoroughbred championship was a little tighter today and he could wrap it up with a victory in the ancient Travers on Aug. 18 at Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

The George D. Widener colt, winner of the Belmont Stakes, Jersey Derby (by disqualification), Choice, Gotham and Withers, solidified his position without stepping a foot on a track last Saturday.

It came about when Ridan, the odds-on-choice off an easy victory in the recent Arlington Classic, was beaten a length by Black Sheep in the $116,250 American Derby at Chicago's Arlington Park. Ridan had been considered Jaipur's only serious rival for the division championship. Last Wednesday, Jaipur won the Choice Stakes at Monmouth.

The $75,000-added Travers, a 1¼-mile test first run in 1864, could well be the race of the year for 3-year-olds. In addition to Jaipur and Ridan, Kentucky Derby winner Decidedly and Preakness winner Greek Money are on the grounds and eligible. Cicada, the 3-year-old filly queen, also is pointing for the race.

Carry Back improved his chances of winning the handicap division title by totting 130 pounds over 1½ miles in one minute and 50 seconds and capturing the $57,400 Whitney by two lengths at Saratoga.

Bobby Jones won the Georgia State Amateur Golf championship at the age of 14 and the Southern Amateur title at 15.

Roberts Paces Orioles' Win Over Angels

Tribe Falls Twice; Chisox Nips Yanks

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Robin Roberts doesn't win the comeback of the year award, there is something wrong with the voting system.

The 35-year-old right-hander has rebounded from a 5.85 earned run average with the Phillies (1-10) in 1961 to a 2.48 ERA and a 7-4 record with the Baltimore Orioles.

Victory No. 7 Sunday boosted his career total to 241.

Roberts Beats Angels

Roberts threw a five-hitter at Los Angeles and won 7-2 as the Orioles, in fourth place, moved within 3½ games of the slumping Angels.

The leading New York Yankees were beaten by Chicago 3-2 in 13 innings on a single by Mike Hersberger. The Yanks' margin was cut to five games because Minnesota split two with Detroit. The second-place Twins won their fifth straight 8-3 with six runs in the 11th inning of the opener, then bowed to the Tigers 5-2 in the second game.

The pitching-poor Kansas City A's hit the jackpot with two young fellows who gave them their first doubleheader sweep since April 22. Cleveland was the victim 3-2 and 5-2. Dan Pfister pitched the first game, striking out 10 although he needed relief help in the ninth. Orlando Pena, formerly with Cincinnati but just recently purchased from Toronto of the International League, made a successful American League debut with a six-hitter in the second game.

CIO 3372 Trips Leetonia 11-9 In Class E Encounter

CIO 3372 tallied two runs in the top of the eighth inning to hand the Leetonia CIO 4022 crew an 11-9 setback in extra frames in a Class E Hot Stove League tilt played Saturday.

The E. W. Bliss aggregation forfeited to the CIO 3816 nine in the other Class E encounter scheduled.

The winners took a 3-0 lead in the second canto but the Leetonia outfit tied the count, then took a 9-6 margin before the CIO 3372 nine regrouped its forces to tie the tilt a second time in the seventh and then win in the eighth.

Two walks and two errors paved the way for two tallies in the eighth inning which gave the victory to the CIO 3372 crew.

Rich Parolantieri, Jim Hippley and Dave Walker featured for the winners with two hits each, including a double by Hippley.

Phil Coseno and Dan Donnelly socked two singles apiece for the Leetonia aggregation.

Jim Mahoney homered for the Tribe and Tito Francona knocked in the other run in the eighth following a single by Ty Cline and a walk to Al Luplow.

Homers by Luplow and Francona accounted for Cleveland's runs in the nightcap. Barry Latham (4-8) and Pedro Ramos (4-9) were the losing pitchers.

Hank Aguirre (8-5) of Detroit was slated to face either Jim (Mudcat) Grant (4-4) or rookie southpaw Sam McDowell (2-4) tonight.

Tom Cheney shut out Boston with four hits in a 2-0 Washington victory in the first game but the Red Sox took the second 5-4 in 11 innings on a wild throw by third baseman Bob Johnson.

A home run by Albie Pearson, leading off in the first, and a run-scoring single by Lee Thomas in the fourth produced the only Angel runs off Roberts' Eli Grba, first of five Los Angeles pitchers, was the loser.

Pizarro Trips Yanks

The White Sox tripped the Yanks on a combination of Juan Pizarro's single, an error by Jack Reed and Hersherberger's single. Pizarro was the winner over Jim Coates.

The Twins' big 11th inning in the first game at Detroit was triggered by Lenny Green's bouncing single that broke a 2-2 tie. Detroit jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first of the second game on Dick McAuliffe's homer and added three more in the second to win for rookie Howie Koplitz.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Country Store

The other day when I had the speed trap sign on the back of my covered wagon parking west of the Corporation Limit sign I really had good traffic control. No one got arrested and the kiddies were really safe.

I was thinking maybe I should move over there and run for mayor, maybe even build a super market. It would be fun to see the town grow when we put a little mercy in our justice.

Look what happened up in Boardman after they made some changes.

Marilyn's Death Stirs Worldwide Reactions

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — From London, from Paris and around the world came reverberations of the shock caused by the death of Marilyn Monroe.

The news even penetrated the Iron Curtain. In Moscow, Tass reported:

"The famous American film star Marilyn Monroe died today at Los Angeles at the age of 36. The official medical conclusion points out that death was caused by an extra large dose of soporific. A Los Angeles official coroner stated that suicide, in his opinion, was not excluded."

In Paris, director Billy Wilder, who directed the star in "Some Like It Hot," said:

"Maybe she was tough to work with. Maybe she wasn't even an actress. But it was worth a week's torment to get those three luminous minutes on the screen."

In London, Sir Laurence Olivier agreed she was difficult to work with, but added:

"She could be incredibly sweet, most tenderly appealing, and very, very witty."

Olivier starred with her and directed her in "The Prince and The Showgirl." He blamed Hollywood for making her "the complete victim of ballyhoo and sensation."

Marilyn's three ex-husbands offered only brief comment, or none at all.

Policeman James E. Dougherty, who was Marilyn's first husband when she was 16, said: "I'm sorry." He was patrolling in a squad car, only 10 miles from her home, when reached for comment.

Her second husband, famed baseball player Joe DiMaggio, flew into Los Angeles from San Francisco shortly after learning of Marilyn's death, but went directly to a hotel where he remained in seclusion. He made no statement.

Playwright Arthur Miller, Marilyn's third husband, declined comment at his home in Roxbury, Conn. He said only that he hadn't decided "whether to go to Hollywood (for the funeral)."

Clifton Webb, who was credited by Marilyn with being the first Hollywood name to befriend her, commented: "I was deeply, deeply fond of her. I am so shocked. People should have been more tolerant of her..."

Gene Kelly said he had a date with Miss Monroe Sunday to discuss a future musical, and spoke to her on the phone three days ago.

"She was in excellent spirits—very happy and very excited about her future projects," he said. "I just don't understand."

Future helicopter pilots will aim their weapons at a target simply by looking at it. Using a new system developed by Sperry Gyroscope Co., pilot above centers his target in bull's-eye sight attached to his helmet visor and presses firing button on the control stick. The helicopter's guns or missiles are linked mechanically to the pilot so that they automatically wheel around to face in the same direction as his eyes. Below, an enemy tank as pilot would see it.
